

Bradford School News

March 5, 2021

“For most of history, Anonymous was a woman.” – Virginia Woolf

Follow us on Twitter @BradfordSchool to receive updates about school!

National Reading Month Continues

- Bradford continues its annual celebration of reading by showcasing children’s books written by women authors and/or featuring female characters of all backgrounds.

National Women’s History Month

- Women’s History Month had its origins as a national celebration in 1981 when Congress passed Pub. L. 97-28, which authorized and requested the President to proclaim the week beginning March 7, 1982 as “Women’s History Week.” Throughout the next five years, Congress continued to pass joint resolutions designating a week in March as “Women’s History Week.” In 1987 after being petitioned by the National Women’s History Project, Congress passed Pub. L. 100-9, which designated the month of March 1987 as “Women’s History Month.” Between 1988 and 1994, Congress passed additional resolutions requesting and authorizing the President to proclaim March of each year as Women’s History Month. Since 1995, presidents have issued a series of annual proclamations designating the month of March as “Women’s History Month.” These proclamations celebrate the contributions women have made to the United States and recognize the specific achievements women have made over the course of American history in a variety of fields. - womenshistorymonth.gov
- Bradford School is proud of all of the remarkable women that continue to strive to change our world for the better. We are equally excited for the bright future our own young women will one day usher in.

Upcoming Dates

- March: National Reading Month, National Women’s History Month
- March 18th: Early (1:40) Dismissal for Curriculum Meetings
- March 31st: Early (1:40) Dismissal for Parent Conferences

Enjoy your weekend!